

2024 Seed Potato Varieties

Reba: Mid to late season with white skin and white flesh. Excellent flavor and stores very well. Our favorite white spud!

Caribou Russet: By far the best russet we've encountered. It bakes beautifully, but is really an all purpose potato. Not nearly so dry as other russets, and better flavor!

Norwis: The russet developed by Frito Lay! Tan skin with white flesh. A main season potato. It's claim to fame? Chips and fries!

Blue: Mid season variety with deep purple skin and flesh. Round to oval shape. Always a conversation piece.

Red Pontiac: Late season variety with red skin and firm white flesh. High yielding. Our favorite red for 40 years!

Norland: Early variety with red skin and white flesh. Perfect for new boiling potatoes.

Russet: Late variety with russeted skin and mealy texture. The best for baking and fires.

Yukon Gold: They say it's early, but for us it's late. White skin and yellow flesh. One of the best for storage! Great flavor and very popular.

Kennebec: Mid to late season variety with white skin and white flesh. Excellent all-purpose choice. New England favorite!
